IN MEMORIAM.

Death has again visited us, and claimed one of our earth's fairest. A few short weeks ago Nora Belle Dickerson was one of the gayest in the village; to-day she is sleeping beneath the sod. When we were told that she was battling with that terrible enemy, typhoid fever, we hoped that having a moderately strong constitution she would recover, but our hopes were in vain, for notwithstanding devoted friends and an ever attentive physician did all in their power to restore her to health, God through His divine wisdom saw fit to remove her from this world of sorrow to a home not made with hands, where all is joy and gladness, and on Sunday morning, August 21st, the sad words, "Nora is dead," were whispered to us.

Of her life too much cannot be said. Although young, she was ever found at the home of God, ready to assist in anything which would be an honor to His cause. Her parents having died when she was very small, she made her home with an aunt and uncle. As an evidence of the pleasure she experienced in this home, one simple remark made by herself will be sufficient. She said: "No home could be more pleasant than mine, and I could not love a mother and father more than I love Aunt and Uncle. The only sorrow my heart ever knows is the separation from my brothers and sisters."

As we gathered around the coffin to take the last sad look at her whom we all loved so dearly, one who knew her well remarked: "She was indeed a lovely woman." How much was clothed in those few words only those who knew her best could tell.

Cheer up, dear ones, and grieve not for the departed one. Remember your loss is her gain.

"Go bury the sorrow,
The world hath its share;
Go bury it deeply,
Go hide it with care;
Go gather the sunshine,
He sheds on the way;
He'll lighten thy burden,
Go, weary one, pray."

A FRIEND.

—Miss Sallie Anderson has opened a private school at the old Institute, on Danville avenue.

—The negro, Jack Chatterwood, who was shot last week by the sheriff's posse, is said to be improving and the chances are that he will recover.

—Next court day Commissioner Burnside will sell the Haselden store room and also the two store-rooms in the north-west corner of the Public Square.

—All the employees of Surveyor Collier's office, Louisville, attended the burial of George R. Bradley. Young Bradley held a position in the surveyor's office for some time.

—Misses Lou and Lillie Grant have returned from Danville. Miss Bessie Burnside is visiting Miss Annie Royston this week. Miss Robertson left for her home in Lawrenceburg Monday. She was accompanied by Miss Ellen Owsley, who will make her a visit. Miss Mary Annie Wilmore, of Nicholasville, is the guest of Mrs. John E. Stormes. Will H. Wearan, of Stanford, was over Sunday. Miss Bessie Bush has returned from a several months' visit to Cynthia. Master George Dunlap has returned to Camp Nelson. Mrs. M. Braun and children have returned from Louisville. Mr. E. Scott, of Somerset, and W. M. Duncan, of Louisville, attended the burial of George Bradley Sunday.

—The funeral of George R. Bradley, son of Hon. W. O. Bradley, on Sunday afternoon, was largely attended by the people of the town and vicinity and also by the members of the bar from Danville and Stanford, the officers of the Custom House, Louisville, and numerous friends and relatives of the deceased from Lincoln and Boyle. The services at the residence, conducted by Dr. J. C. Randolph, of Pewee Valley, assisted by Rev. J. R. Tercey and Elder J. C. Frank, were very impressive. There is a universal sympathy for the family in their great bereavement. Hons. T. P. Hill, W. G. Welch, W. H. Miller and J. W. Alcorn, of Stanford, and R. P. Jacobs, John W. Yerkes and Robert Harding, of Danville, were honorary pall-bearers.

—At a meeting of the Lancaster bar, held at the court-house in Lancaster, Sept. 10, 1892, M. D. Hughes was called to the chair and Louis Landram chosen secretary, whereupon the chair appointed the following committee for the purpose of drafting suitable resolutions of respect to the memory of George Robertson Bradley, a member of the bar, who departed this life on the 9th inst., viz: J. M. Rothwell, chairman; L. F. Hubble, R. H. Tomlinson, W. J. Landram, Letcher Owsley, W. B. Mason, J. W. Miller and Wm. Herndon. Said committee reported the following, which was unanimously adopted:

The untimely death of George Robertson Bradley, son of Hon. W. O. Bradley, adds another to the list of the members of the Lancaster bar who have gone to their rest in the past 18 months; and we are convened to-day to pay the last tribute of respect to his memory. A manly form, handsome features, a cultivated mind and modest bearing were among the characteristics that rendered him attractive in society and that endeared him to those whose friendship he sought. He was polite and deferential toward all with whom he was associated and his modesty was at all times noticeable and commendable. In view of our relation to the deceased, who has been taken from us in his early manhood,

RESOLVED, 1. That we deeply deplore his loss and tender to his sorrow-stricken parents assurances of our sincere sympathy in their great bereavement and as an evidence of our respect for the deceased, we will attend his funeral in a body.

2. That these proceedings be spread at large on the order book of the Garrard circuit and county courts and published in the following papers: Record-Homestead, Interior Journal, Mt. Vernon Signal, London Echo, Somerset Reporter and the papers of Richmond, Nicholasville and Danville, and a copy be handed the family of our deceased brother. On motion the meeting then adjourned.

M. D. HUGHES, Ch'n.

It gave me prompt relief and I believe cured me permanently, as I now eat and drink anything I please without harm. I have also used it in my family with the best results." For sale by Dr. M. L. Bourne, Druggist and Optician, Stanford, Ky.

Bourne, Druggist and Optician, Stanford, Ky.

—Mr. Bruce Wilmod died at Brodhead Friday morning from the effects of the gun shot wound received at the hands of Joe Howard. He was buried Saturday by the Masons. He was popular throughout the county and his death is deeply deplored by every one. It was one of the longest funeral processions ever seen hereabouts.

—Miss Ann Stewart was with Mrs. Cleo Baown last week. Misses Gertrude and Mattie Weber depart to-day for Hamilton College, where Miss Gertrude graduates this year. A delightful reception was given at Williamsburg to Misses Bessie McClure and May Miller by Miss Sidney Stanfield. W. M. Weber is in Knoxville on business connected with his real estate. W. M. Hicks, of West Virginia, is here. He has been very fortunate in the accumulation of wealth since he left this place. Miss Bessie Adams, of Paint Lick, is stopping with Miss Lucille Joplin. J. W. Brown writes to G. W. McClure that he will soon return to Mt. Vernon to see about buying some property for him.

Miss Della Harlan leaves Tuesday for Somerset to attend the fair and visit Mrs. Jennie Brown. Miss Finkle Helm, who has been with her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Waters, has returned to Danville. A. W. Smith is in Bowling Green this week. Miss Maggie Lewis has gone so Somerset on a short visit to her brother. She was accompanied by little Marietta Lewis, who has been with her grand-parents all summer. Miss Mattie Bosley will return this week from a visit to Missouri.

As the explosion of saw mill boilers largely exceed in number those of the boilers of any other kind, and are from one-quarter to one-third of all the recorded explosions, there must be something in the management of saw mill machinery that perhaps engineers do not control. The overloading of boiler work and pressure beyond the safe condition of old boilers, by the instructions of parsimonious owners to inexperienced engineers, is probably at the bottom of the trouble. If a good engineer protests, the owner will find somebody to run his boiler, and the fraternity bears the ridicule.—Scientific American.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

—After 729 ballots the democrats of the 9th Tennessee district nominated J. O. McDearmon for Congress.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Granville Singleton and Miss Mary McMullen, both of the Wayneburg section, were married Sunday at the bride's father's, Mr. Bailey McMullen.

—Fred Bishop, the 20-year-old son of Mr. Josiah Bishop, and Miss Jennie, the pretty 19-year-old daughter of Mr. R. L. White, attended church at Turnersville Sunday. They were expected to return after services, but they didn't do so, and instead they took the train at McKinney and left for some Gretna Green in Tennessee, where ere they more than probably have been joined in wedlock's bonds. They were accompanied by Miss Dovie Talbott and James Carson. The I. J. wishes the young couple much success and happiness.

—About 10 nights before Eugene H. Carter, of the West End, and Miss Mary Daugherty, of Lexington, came to county clerk, G. B. Cooper's home, at 10 o'clock, and asked him for marriage license. He did not have the key, so he referred them to his deputy, Carroll Bailey. They went in search of him, but Carroll is a lady's man and was calling on one of them and could not be found, so sadly they wended their way back home still two in the flesh. Thursday night they again took a notion to get spliced and when Thompse Cooper returned from church he found them waiting for him. This time he had the key and soon gave them the necessary permit in such cases made and provided. Judge Varmon's residence was next visited and he was hustled out of bed to tie the knot, which he did in his incomparable manner. Why the couple should both times select night for the business is not explained, as we have heard of no objection to the marriage.

IN MEMORIAM.

Of Fannie Lee Holderman, who died Sept. 7th, 1892. Death, even when looked upon in the light of a hope of the glorious resurrection is indeed sad; but when death comes to a noble young woman, how piercingly sad and heart rendering must it be to those who loved her so devotedly in life. Alas and alas! that all can not realize that death is all for the better, even in the most trying hour and meekly bow with the prayer of christian resignation on their quivering lips, "O, God, Thy will be done." But such is not the nature of humans here below and we are all prone to pour out the essence of love divine and give vent to sorrow through the medium of tears and lamentation. In our nature what is in our hearts must comfort and alter that by degrees we become reconciled to the inevitable fate which has been allotted to us. Fannie was one of the purest, noblest embodiments of young womanhood. While we can but sorrow at the parting, yet we look upon her going as simply a departure to partake of the fruits and joys of a better country, a summons to come up higher and engage in a grander work. For her and all those who are ever to be found on the side of right in the great battle of life, there is no death. It is only a separation from all that can die. The grim monster invaded a happy family and laid his hands on a husband's dearest treasure and a child's benefactress. The strings of the lute are broken and the music of home is turned to mourning. Her melodious voice, so much missed in the church choir, is raised in hallelujahs to Him, who sitteth upon the great white throne. But she has gone; her spirit has winged its flight beyond the loftiest peak to that celestial city, which none save God and His have seen, and now paces in its wonted gentleness the gold paved streets of the new Jerusalem.

Now at the table where she sat
A shadow fills the place
That was once sunlit by her smiles,
There is no hidden thorn in her good gifts of grace.
And when at last our end shall come
And death shall close our eyes,
We hope to meet that angel one
In God's sweet Paradise.

Inside the partly gates ajar
The first white wings we'll see,
Will wait the one now lost—then found—
Our angel, Fannie Lee. D. S. C.

A Little Girl's Experience in a Light House.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trescott are keepers of the Gov. Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich., and are blessed with a daughter, 4 years old. Last April she was taken down with measles, followed with a dreadful cough and turning into a fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain; she grew worse rapidly until she was a mere "handful of bones." Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get you a trial bottle free at A. R. Penny's drug store.

A Cure for Paralysis.

Frank Cornelius, of Purcell, Ind. Ter., says: "I induced Mr. Pinson, whose wife had paralysis in the face, to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. To their great surprise before the bottle had been used she was a great deal better. Her face had been drawn to one side, but the Pain Balm relieved all pain and soreness and the mouth assumed its natural shape." It is also a certain cure for rheumatism, lame back, sprains, swellings and lameness. 50-cent bottles for sale by Dr. M. L. Bourne, Druggist and Optician, Stanford, Ky.
